WHO WE ARE

At acpo ltd., we are solely devoted to manufacturing self-wound pressure sensitive roll label films for the label printing and flexible packaging industries. As overlamine leaders, we are an ISO 9001:2008 certified company, and pride ourselves in maintaining the highest quality manufacturing standards while providing customers with superior products, exceptional service and on-time shipments.

Our state-of-the-art 150,000 square foot manufacturing facility, located in Oak Harbor, OH, USA, implements the latest coating and slitting equipment technology. With our skilled and knowledgeable work force, we practice Lean Manufacturing principles and strive for continuous improvement for our internal operations. Our on-site laboratory is furnished with high grade testing equipment which we put to good use in our pursuit for new product development and innovative solutions for customers seeking project assistance or customized product applications.

As the leading PSA roll label film manufacturer, acpo's product line is extensive. We offer same day shipping for all stock self-wound polypropylene overlaminates. We manufacture a full line of self-wound polypropylene and polyester overlaminates in clear and matte finish in various thicknesses. Our specialty products include easy release, FDA compliant, photoluminescent, removable, thermal transfer, UL recognized and UV screening.

Our PS laminates on polyester liners present several production benefits, including easy release for smooth unwind and better tension control on press. These same PS laminates boast superior clarity for optimal aesthetics without concern for fish eyes, a true premium label look appearance.

For label converters with digital printers, acpo manufactures self-wound overlaminates specifically designed for this technology. These PSA roll label films have a proprietary adhesive formulation for high compatibility with digital printing equipment and perform extremely well, offering durability, scratch protection and attractiveness to the label. This product line is available in clear and matte finish, and standard and premium UV screening.

We also produce form, document and tag reinforcement narrow-width overlaminates, carton sealing tape, and offer unsupported film for immediate slitting and shipping. For custom projects, we have contract coating and contract slitting capabilities.

As a USA based company, acpo ltd. is proud to service our dedicated and loyal customers in North America and abroad. Consequently, we have established partnerships with dedicated national and international distributor networks that practice the same customer commitment to quality and service as acpo ltd.

If you are a current customer or thinking about becoming one, we encourage you to review our company website at www.acpo.com. For questions, please contact our friendly sales and customer service team. We are here to assist you with all your overlaminate needs.
